

RESIGNATION OF CUNO ACCEPTED BY EBERT; NEW GOVERNMENT

Dr. Gustav Stresemann Is Commissioned to Function

FOREIGN MINISTRY GREATEST BUGABOO

Four Party Coalition Will Be Basis of Reorganization

BERLIN, Aug. 12.—The resignations of Chancellor Wilhelm Cuno and his entire cabinet were accepted today by President Ebert.

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, leader of the German People's party, has been commissioned by President Ebert to form a new government.

After accepting the task Herr Stresemann had a conference with the representatives of the various parties. The greatest difficulty was in connection with the foreign ministry, and it is thought possible that he will take the post himself.

Some Forecasts
It is believed in political quarters that Herr Stresemann will be the new finance minister and Herr Brüning will be named minister of the interior, while the name Herr Brüning, of the People's party, is mentioned as the new minister of state to the imperial chancellery.

The new cabinet will be of a strictly political character, including representatives of the United States, Social, Catholic, People's and Democratic parties. The United States has made it known they expect to have four seats in the cabinet.

Just before Chancellor Cuno called on President Ebert to submit his resignation, the cabinet members representing the present government visited the president and discussed with him the prospects of constructing a government on a four-party basis.

Leave Understanding
This understanding that the United States had arrived at an understanding with respect to their readiness to support the government of Cuno, as a platform for the reconstruction of Germany, was one of the other political and economic developments that were being pushed forward in their campaign.

Abandonment of the chancellor by the cabinet led to the resignation of Cuno as a consequence to their refusal to support him. The cabinet members, who are using the national chancellery as a refuge from the red flag.

It was said that Herr Cuno was a victim of the economic crisis, and that his cabinet members were not only not interested in his work, but that they realized the futility of his work. The cabinet members, who are using the national chancellery as a refuge from the red flag.

Official Correspondence With the Allies Since the First of June Is Made Public; Curzon Highly Courteous But Decided

Offers to Submit Point to Arbitration at the Hague or by Any Other Body—Disappointment Shown—To Ask More Than Germany Can Pay Would Only Destroy Assets

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The British government, in the publication today of its official correspondence with the allies since June, placed on record its position with regard to the German reparations problem.

Note dealing with all the manifold aspects of the problem, sets forth that the British government regards the occupation of the Ruhr as illegal and unauthorized by the Versailles treaty, thus supporting the German contention in this respect. At the same time, however, he offers to submit the point to arbitration at the Hague or by any other body.

While alluding to a tone of the utmost courtesy and saying nothing definite with regard to any separate action on the part of Great Britain, Lord Curzon emphasizes that Great Britain cannot agree with the French policy, which he intimates plainly points to an indefinite occupation of the Ruhr.

Lord Curzon still leaves it to the French government to suggest the method of settling on international matters, but he declines to accept the demand to pay reparations, but he declines to accept the demand to pay reparations, but he declines to accept the demand to pay reparations.

N. K. Miller, who is looking after the Canadian booking for the famous Fantages-Pantages combination, was in Edmonton last week and told Manager Grant Pemberton that the Fantages will which opens here at the Wednesday matinee is even better than the previous bill which had been received with such favor. Mr. Miller saw the bill, which is headed by a dancing "The Lady of France," in Winnipeg, and is not backward in expressing his appreciation of the splendid entertainment offered. The headline attraction is presented by an all-star company of Spanish artists, appearing in costume.

dances and instrumental numbers, the whole production being beautifully costumed and staged. An original offering of waltzes, comedy cross-fire, singing "No No No," is given by Robinson and Pierce, two of vaudeville's most brilliant performers, and is guaranteed to make a splash here. Billy Wells and the Bolshoi Twins, three appealing dancers, will be seen in a novel vaudeville program. All three have appeared in well known New York productions and are certainly making good in vaudeville also. "The Dreamer," is always a welcome visitor in Edmonton, as he is a master both of the pretense and the legitimate art. Mr. Livingston's presentation includes a Hebrew, an incarcerated individual and a miser.

HISTORY MAY REPEAT

Representatives of the railways say that if British Columbia wins its appeal against the freight rates order of the railway commission the province will be the sufferer and the railways the beneficiaries. That may be, though it is not customary for railway directors in this country to go to the courts to prevent the public getting the worst of a deal in freight rates. Perhaps we have got to the place where the railway managements are more anxious to thrust cheap transportation upon the public than the public are to accept, but the claim will have to be established by facts before anybody takes it seriously. Still, the railways do offer a rate reduction that will have done the country more good than the revival of the Crow's Nest agreement.

WHO GOVERN?

The Moderation Leaguers of Manitoba seem to be pained because the Government did not allow them to name the members of the commission which is to have charge of the selling of the crown privilege is not clear. If the claim were allowed in one case it would have to be recognized in others, and the Ministers would find themselves held answerable for administrators of one kind and another whom they did not select and perhaps did not want. A Government has to be accountable for the acts of its agents, and efficiency of responsibility is to be complete and efficiency secured, the selection of the agents must be left to the Ministers—who must stand the blame if they prove to be incompetent or dishonest. The power to "hire and fire" must go with responsibility for results.

ANOTHER HOLDING SCHEME

The American Farm Bureau Federation is also promoting a wheat pool. The bureau wants farmers in the United States to hold 200 million bushels of the present crop in their granaries, as a means of shortening the supply and forcing the price upward. The republic produces annually about 250 million bushels over the requirements of the home market. If the plan succeeded the effect would be to keep most of this exportable surplus off the world market for the time being, by that means the long commercial could be made to pay more for his bread, but not enough more to make up what the farmer would be out of pocket by not selling the balance of his crop abroad. And eventually the surplus would have to be marketed, in competition with the crop from the southern hemisphere which will ripen about our mid-winter season, or in the face of next summer's crop from the northern half of the world. If the scheme is carried out the benefits will go to the farmers of other countries who ship their wheat to Europe while the United States grows hold over. Perhaps the U. S. grower will oblige in that way, but more likely he won't.

STOCK UP WITH COAL

Householders would do well to lay in a supply of coal without delay. The point, noted by the U. M. W. A., that they will or won't strike in the Edmonton coal field on August 20th does not necessarily mean that a single miner will quit work on that date. But it does mean that the resources in money and devolity of a vast and wealthy international organization is to be used in the endeavor to shut up the Edmonton domestic coal field. It means serious question that the action of last winter will be repeated, or the attempt will be made to repeat them.

How far intimidation and actual outrage will affect the closing of the mines will depend upon the course of action to be followed by the civic, provincial and federal authorities. If these authorities continue to act as they have done in protesting property from destruction and men who want to work from intimidation, there will be no coal shortage. But if the several governmental authorities take the attitude defined by Attorney General Brodeur last year before the Kiwanians as one of strict neutrality, and to abdicate their responsibilities for the protection of property and personal right, there is no reason why the mines may not be closed down when the long nights give ruffians all the advantage against law-abiding citizens. All summer long the so-called "pickets" of the U. M. W. of A. have paraded day after day and gone as far as they dared in daylight to molest the miners going to work. They have transgressed the letter and spirit of the law in doing so, but have not been interfered with by the provincial authorities. If this is an indication of the course which the provincial authorities will take when the "strike" is declared, householders may as well make up their minds that coal will be both scarce and dear in Edmonton during the coming winter.

WHOSE TIMBER IS IT?

The British Empire forestry conference, held at Ottawa during the last week, is a gathering of more national importance than many which get times the amount of attention. It has brought together from all parts of the British world men who are engaged in the business of protecting forests and creating new ones. Of all the countries represented Canada has larger interests at stake than any, and fortunately they are different from those of some of the other Dominions. India, for example, faces the problem of preventing its timber supply being used up to meet present requirements, and of starting new and vast plantations of trees to provide for future generations. Canada has timber plenty for present and prospective needs. If it is taken care of, the Dominion is one of the few remaining timber countries of the world. But it will not long remain so if cutting is allowed to go on without restriction and forest fires and pests continue to destroy the woodlands at the present rate. There is no way of replacing a tree save by the slow process of growth, a process so slow that bringing from fifty to a hundred years is required to bring seedling to maturity. Yet as are our forest areas they are not inexhaustible. A hundred years ago there was more standing timber of the kinds the world most requires in the United States than there was in Canada. But it is gone, or so nearly gone that the American lumberman and paper maker has invaded Canada wherever suitable supplies were to be found, has bought great tracts in the older provinces and in British Columbia, and is sweeping the timber wealth out of the country as fast as unlimited capital and a limitless demand can accomplish the work of destruction. Europe too, is making a steady and increasing demand upon our forests. And the fire and the insect are probably doing more damage than the export trade. There could be only one outcome to that, if Canadians were foolish enough to allow it to go on. Our timber is being used up faster than it is growing, so much faster that some authorities tell us that in ten years we shall have none left unless we change our ways.

Fortunately there are signs that public opinion is waking up to the necessity of putting a check upon the ravages of the exporter, the fire and the insectivorous enemy. If we fail to do that we shall be doing ourselves and our country a great wrong. Our timber is being used up faster than it is growing, so much faster that some authorities tell us that in ten years we shall have none left unless we change our ways.

HOW SHARPER THAN A SERPANT'S TOOTH . . .

Uncommon Sense

By John Blake

FROM THE THISTLES.

Robert Louis Stevenson wanted to write.

His parents wanted him to be an engineer.

He came from a long line of engineers and lighthouse builders, men who found joy in fighting and conquering the ocean.

But Stevenson, while he could have acquired a fair degree of engineering skill, was not born for a career of war with the elements.

And, until, with Scotch persistence, he finally gained his own way and began to write, he was never happy.

And great many fathers make the same error, they force their children to follow in their footsteps.

It is natural for them to believe that their sons follow in their footsteps.

Some of their talents or qualities to their offspring.

As a result of the offspring, if they are forced to follow in their footsteps, they are made miserable by parents, and what they suppose is their duty.

The little James W. Faulkner, who became one of the best political writers in America, once wrote and remembered when I was a child of about thirteen, wearing one of my fingers with an axe with which I was chopping kindling wood.

"An axman as I got over the care, and the second had been found, but I thought with philosophy, 'I'll be an axman, too, for I'm nobody is going to make me practice for a job for three hours a day or more!'"

There are few parents who really know before their children are well on their way to manhood or womanhood, which develops early.

But only very great talent inspires success in these professions, and few often doing mothers think that because a child likes to draw pictures which all children do, or can carry a tune, which the majority of children can do, that they have been singled out by nature for one of these two careers.

As a consequence the children are not without Canadian timber, and are continually trying to do something which is not their own.

They are not without Canadian timber, and are continually trying to do something which is not their own.

They are not without Canadian timber, and are continually trying to do something which is not their own.

JOCKEYS WORE CREEPE

ROBINSHIP, Leeds. - Following the funeral of Arthur Whaley, M.P., many jockeys who had attended the ceremony, were seen on their horses at race meet in which they participated. It was an unusual sight for a race meet.

A calamity is when a busy man sits alone in the end of the party as he can't sit down.

Bulletin's Mail Bag

Editor, Bulletin, August 13th, 1923.

Sir: Two or three months ago I read in the Saturday Evening Post an article in which the author quoted a successful but cynical man, who, he did not name, who said that in this C. E. a politician is a man who stands back and watches a crowd, which will be in a position to rise and give a front of it.
